Nomad Outland Whisky

“Nomad is the first whiskey in the world to be finished in Sherry barrels in Jerez de la Frontera cellars, following a prior aging in Scotland. The blend of 30 different malt and grain whiskies are aged in Scotland up to eight years – and then 12 months aged in old Pedro Ximenex casks in the historic centenary cellar of Gonzalez Byass in Jerez. The nose is distinct with orange peel, white flowers, butterscotch and malt, while the palate’s silky viscosity holds up honey, millefeuille (layers of puff pastry and cream) and a touch of Sherry brine. At 82.6 proof, this Nomad should be welcome anywhere.”
